Course Description

From the course catalog: Fundamental concepts and techniques of intelligent systems; representation and interpretation of knowledge on a computer; search strategies and control; active research areas and applications such as notational systems, natural language understanding, vision systems, planning algorithms, intelligent agents and expert systems.

Specific to this course:

To understand the problems in AI and to learn how to solve them:

- 1. traditional methods in AI (search, pattern matching, logical inference, theorem proving, planning, etc.).
- 2. modern approaches in AI (learning, probabilistic approaches, etc.).

Course Prerequisites

CSCE 411 (https://catalog.tamu.edu/search/?P=CSCE%20411) or approval of instructor.

Special Course Designation

None.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Understand the basic techniques for creating intelligent programs. This will be measured by homeworks and exams.

- 2. Create successful computer programs illustrating the operation of these methods. This will be measured by the programming assignments.
- 3. Apply the right programming language or technique to the right problem and be able to evaluate a proposed Al application for likelihood of success. This will be measured by programming assignments.

Grading Policy

1. Exams: 45% (midterm: 20%, final: 25%)

Make up exams:

- Only cases allowed under "Excused Absences" under TAMU Student Rules, Rule 7. Attendance (https://student-rules.tamu.edu/rule07/) will be eligible for make up exams. See 7.2 Absences and 7.3 Absence Documentation and Verification. Please read this very carefully. (For example, non-acute medical service does not constitute an excused absence, and it is the student's responsibility to provide documentation substantiating the reason for absence.)
- There will be no make up exam for those who do not show up for the exam without prior notice.
- Make up exams will be different from the original exams although the difficulty will be adjusted to be comparable.

Exam rules

 All exams will be closed book. Put all books, notes (exception below), cell phones, calculators, or any information containing media in your bag.

- You may bring a 1-sheet hand-written note (US letter paper; you can use both sides). Write your full name on the top left corner of page 1. A4 or any other sized paper, two pages glued together, photocopied or printed notes, name not written or not written in the exact location specified are all in violation of this rule, and this will result in a 10-point penalty.
- o (Depending on the classroom) If you're right handed, sit in a right-handed seat. If you're left handed, sit in a left-handed seat.
- Bring your student ID or Texas driver's license. You will not allowed to take the exam without an ID.
- o Aggie honor code will be strictly enforced.
- 2. Homeworks (includes written and programming): 50% (12%, 12%, 13%, 13%).
- 3. Attendance: 5%, based on attendance. Each absence will deduct 1% (out of 5%) of the attendance score. Excused absences will only be allowed for those listed in the university rules.

There will be no curving. The cutoff for an `A' will be 90% of total score, 80% for a `B', 70% for a `C', 60% for a `D', and below 60% for an 'F'.

Late Work Policy

Late penalty: 1 point (out of 100) per hour. Late submissions will not be accepted 4 days after the deadline and/or after the solution has been posted.
